

UNESCO HEAD VISITS FOR GOODWILL EVENT AT STREET SCHOOL IN ISLAMABAD

Islamabad, 19 December 2013: To show solidarity and goodwill with students of the open air street schools in Islamabad, Country Director/Representative, UNESCO, Dr. Kozue Kay Nagata and Secretary General of Pakistan National Commission for UNESCO, Amna Imran Khan visited Master Ayub's school in F-6, Islamabad.

The visit aimed to spend some time with the children of open air schools and to show its solidarity and goodwill with the children prior to the arrival of holiday seasons and New Year 2014. Director UNESCO and Secretary General of Pakistan National Commission for UNESCO on the occasion distributed some sets of learning resources, which included a game on disaster risk reduction popularly known as Disaster Master Game and pictorial books on numbers and alphabets. They also applauded Master Ayub Khan who is running the volunteer school for poor ordinary children for the past 28 years and shared how children graduated from the school are now absorbed in the world of work.
