

Envoy of United Nations Secretary General visited Pakistan to promote Girls' Education

Former UK Prime Minister and Special Envoy of the United Nations Secretary General for Global Education, Mr. Gordon Brown was called on by the President of Pakistan on 9th November, 2012. Mr. Gordon Brown is on a visit to Pakistan to promote Girls' Right to Education. The President of Pakistan reiterated that government of Pakistan has accorded high priority to the promotion of education in the country especially in the militancy hit areas as a long term tool to fight militant mindset. He underscored that this mindset was our biggest collective enemy.

Those who were present during the meeting included United Nations Resident Coordinator Mr. Timo Pakkala, UNICEF Representative Mr. Dan Rohrmann, UNESCO Representative Dr. Kozue Kay Nagata and WFP Representative Mr. Jean-Luc Siblot.